

The State of NJ and Rutgers, The State University of NJ

Present the

The Governor's New Jersey School Security Summit on

“Empowering School Communities through Knowledge, Partnerships and Service”

May 3, 2005

at

Rutgers University

College Avenue Student Center, MultiPurpose Room

8:00am-3:00pm

- 8:00am Registration & Continental Breakfast
- 9:00am Introductions by Leslie W. Kennedy, Dean of the Rutgers School of Criminal Justice
- Welcoming Remarks* by Richard L. McCormick, President, Rutgers, The State University of NJ
- 9:15am Welcoming Remarks by Richard J. Codey, Acting Governor, The State of New Jersey
- 9:30am Keynote Address: “Emergency Preparedness for Schools: The New Reality” delivered by Gregory Thomas, Director, The Program for School Preparedness and Planning, National Center for Disaster Preparedness, Mailman School of Public Health at Columbia University
- 10:00am Coffee Break
- 10:15am Panel: *School Security in the 21st Century—Current Thinking and National Trends
Presenters:
- Mercer Sullivan—Associate Professor, Rutgers School of Criminal Justice. School Violence
 - Diane Zahm --Associate Professor, Urban Affairs & Planning, Virginia Tech. Environmental Design
 - Lee Clarke—Associate Professor, Rutgers Department of Sociology. All Hazards Approach

- Pamela Cantor, MD—President, Turnaround for Children, Inc. Impact on Children
- Greg Greicius—Director of School Initiatives, Turnaround for Children, Inc. School projects promoting safety and resilience

Discussants:

- Marc Holzer, Professor, Rutgers Department of Public Administration, Consequences—Intended and Unintended
- Byron Price, Assistant Professor, Rutgers Department of Public Administration, Consequences—Intended and Unintended

11:45am Q&A for Panel

12:00pm Lunch

1:00pm Afternoon Address: Peter C. Harvey, Attorney General, State of New Jersey

Panel: School Security Partnerships

- Sidney Caspersen—Director, NJ Office of Counter Terrorism, Threat Briefing for School Officials
- Dwight Pfennig – Deputy Commissioner, NJ Department of Education , School Best Practices
- Lori Hennon-Bell, Lieutenant Colonel, Deputy Superintendent for Homeland Security, NJ State Police, School Security Audits
- Scott Johnson—Detective, Hi-Tech Crime Unit, NJ State Police, Cyberterrorism
- Donald Sebastian- Director, Homeland Security Technology Systems Center, Model School Technology Initiative
- George Scott—Director of Student Services, South Brunswick Board of Education

2:30pm Q&A

2:45pm Closing Remarks

Coordinated by:

The Center for the Study of Public Security, Rutgers School of Criminal Justice

With the Support of:

The NJ Domestic Preparedness Task Force

The NJ Department of Education

The Rutgers University Homeland Security Research Initiative

The Graduate School of Education, Rutgers University